

Do you support someone with communication disability from stroke or brain injury?

Join the Communication Connect study
Find the right support and resources for you

The Communication Connect Carer website was developed as part of a government funded study exploring ways to better support carers and family members of people with communication disability.

The website includes:

- A self-paced e-Learning program for carers
- A Carers' Needs Checklist that points you to resources based on your needs.

You can participate in our research if you:

1. Care for someone with a communication disability after stroke or brain injury, and

2. Live in
